

Tomatin 125th Anniversary

Single Cask - 1993

This rare single malt Scotch Whisky cask has been personally selected by Master Distiller, Graham Eunson to mark the 125th Anniversary of Tomatin Distillery.

Tasting Notes:

Nose – Similar to the type of cask that would have been used in 1897, this is a great example of a whisky that takes time to open up. Initially the nose is very soft with hints of furniture wax, hessian and engine oil. Emerging notes of very old oloroso sherry bring a complex mix of fruit and nut; figs, raisins, plums, pear tarte tatin and frangipane. Growing ever bolder, aromas of coffee liqueur, flamed orange, caramel and black walnut bitters show a darker side before herbal notes of pipe tobacco and eucalyptus.

Palate – Massive sherry notes coat the palate, walnut, almond, raisins (almost like PX) and citrus in the form of tangerine. This is followed by a wave of European Oak spice, toffee and dark chocolate. In time a liquorice flavour develops along with a hint of Assam Tea.

Finish – Deep and rich. A short dryness from the Assam Tea note is replaced by re-emerging raisin and chocolate.
